DEATH LIST OF A WEEK

JACOB RESSER WAS A BANK DIRECTOR OVER 40 YEARS.

Rev. E. J. Metzler Meets With Sudden Death—Killed in Crossing W. M. R. R.

Jacob Resser.

Jacob Resser, one of the oldest, best known and highly respected citizens of East Berlin, passed away on last Friday evening at his home. He was taken with a weak spell about a week previous and sank until the end. He was in his 85th year. Mr. Resser for many years had been the leading tin-ner and stove dealer in East Berlin, in fact until he retired from the business and turned it over to his son. He was a man who had the confidence and respect of his community and as early as 1859 he was elected a director of the Gettysburg Bank. He saw that institution converted later into a National Bank and become the successful bank it is to-day and for more than forty years he was a director in it until failing health caused him to resign. The funeral was held on Monday, Rev. R. H. Clare conducting the services. Four sons and three daughters survive, W. W. Resser, Harry Resser, George Resser of East Berlin, Walter Resser of York, Mrs. Chas. Baker of York, Mrs. Elizabeth Diehl, of New Oxford, and Miss Katie Resser at home.

Samuel Erb.

Samuel Erb of Westminster while driving last Tuesday evening in a covered wagon attempted to cross the Western Maryland Railroad track two miles from Westminster and engine struck his team, killing his horse, demolishing the vehicle, breaking both legs and arms and several ribs of Mr. Erb and crushing his head. He was dead when picked up. A coroner's jury exonerated the railroad company of blame for accident, usual signals having been given. Funeral on last Thursday. Deceased was the father of Mrs. Daniel Crouse of Littlestown.

Rev. Elder J. Metzler.

Rev. Elder J. Metzler, connected with pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Altoona and who had been tendered a call from a church at Avis, Pa., last week, died suddenly last Wednesday aged 62 years. He was born in Union township, Adams county, attended Gettysburg College, and graduate from the Theological Seminary in 1874 and was licensed the same year. His first pastorate was at St. John's Church, near Littlestown, then at Williamsburg, Pa., and at St. Paul's in Altoona, resigning the latter two years ago to devote his entire time to Gettysburg, connected with same church. The body was taken to Littlestown last Friday, where in the evening services were conducted by Revs. E. E. Blunt of Littlestown, J. C. Koller of Hanover, George Roth of Altoona and Rev. Dr. E. D. Weigle of Mechanicsburg. He leaves a wife who was Miss Maria Bart of Union township, two sons and one daughter, John, Alvin and Matilda all at home.

Mrs. Reuben Bair.

Mrs. Reuben Bair of Union township died on last Friday of cancer aged 59 years. Three years ago, owing to her failing health, Mr. and Mrs. Bair moved from Hanover to Union township. Her condition however grew worse. Funeral on Monday, services by Revs. F. S. Lindman of Littlestown and M. J. Roth of Hanover with interment at Christ's Church, near Littlestown. She leaves besides her husband, one brother and two sisters, all of Maryland.

Mrs. Anna Adams.

Mrs. Annie Adams wife of William H. Adams died at her home in Brush-town on Sunday May 7, of apoplexy aged 69 years. Funeral on Tuesday morning of last week at Conowago Chapel services by Rev. Father Haltermeyer with interment in Conowago Cemetery. She was married 50 years ago to Wm. H. Adams, who survives her with two sons and four daughters, John J. Adams of Edgegrove, Charles L. Clinton Sier.

Clinton Sier, at one time a resident of East Berlin, died on Tuesday last week at the York Hospital aged 46 years. He was employed at the American Caramel Company of York. Eleven weeks ago he scratched the thumb of his right hand against a piece of brass wire, making a wound scarcely a half inch in length. Immediately the injured hand began to swell until the whole forearm was affected. Running sores broke out on both his arms and body causing him intense pain. Finally the right arm was taken off above the elbow and the left at the wrist, but the progress of blood poisoning could not be stopped. Mr. Sier was the only support of his widowed mother.

The Great Wreck.

The greatest accident in years on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad took place last Thursday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock. A Western Express train of Pullman cars was entering Harrisburg at rate of 55 or 60 miles an hour and passed an east-bound freight. As engines passed an air apparatus on freight broke and cars left the track and struck the Pullman coaches of the express. A number of terrific explosions followed, two cars of the freight train containing dynamite. There was an immense wreck and almost instantaneously it was all in a furious blaze. Twenty-three were killed or died from wounds, seventeen bodies having been identified, the others having been burnt beyond recognition, and 57 others were injured.

Alarm of Fire.

An alarm of fire last Thursday brought out hose reels, engine and hook and ladder truck but they were not needed. The chimney of house of Wm. H. Johns on Breckenridge street was on fire but burnt out without damage to building.

A VOTE IN FAVOR OF SEWER

IS FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE HEALTH OF YOUR HOME.

No Good Reason to Advance Against it—It Will Solve Many Difficulties of the Town.

There has not been a single reason advanced in print against the sewer. Why?

Because there is no good reason to be invented against it and the voters will therefore support the sewer next Tuesday because it is a good thing.

Arguments growing out of misinformation have been heard. It was said that the first ward sewer would not be used and purchased, so it was expected that the stockholders in it would be against sewer. But there is nothing in it. The Town Council is on record for the purchase and use of that sewer at a reasonable price.

It was heard that the sewer would be for only portions of the town and not the whole town, the main streets in preference to other points. A map of the system shows how absolutely false is any such statement. Half a dozen maps are scattered over town. Study them. North and South the sewer runs on Steinwehr, Baltimore, Carlisle, Stratton, East and West Liberty, Washington and Franklin, while East and West it is on South, Breckenridge, High, Middle, York, Hanover, Chambersburg, Buford, Water, Stevens, Lincoln and Broad streets, wherever there are residences. A more comprehensive plan could not be imagined.

Some would frighten themselves with "town can't afford sewer." There isn't the shadow of a basis for this position. The figures say it will be done without any increase of taxation. The town can afford the most important civic improvement that can be made when it will not increase taxes. The town has been run for years on a tax rate to pay interest on $15,000 and $1000 annually on principal. To pay the same amount each year and interest on double the principal only requires $600. Where is that sum to come from? Well, this year $600 is taken out of general expenses to pay for sewer plans and $400 for hose, last year $600 went into sewer pipes on Franklin street, other years for engine or crusher or other unusual outlays. Besides the town is constantly improving, adding more tax and will continue to improve more rapidly with a first-class sewer system.

The sewer is an absolute necessity. If any voter doubts this let him walk to the Tiber on Washington and Stratton streets. His eyes and nose will tell him the rest. The same experience can be had at times at Winebrenner's Run.

These streams are used now at points for general sewer purposes. Think of the hundreds of bath tubs and closets, a large number of which use cess pools, old drains and these water ways. If an injunction should go forth at any time to prevent such use of the water ways for protection of public health it would cause untold inconvenience. If the town does not soon abate certain conditions by a general sewer it may be held in damages for houses made uninhabitable or sickness caused.

The way to solve all these questions is to vote next week for a sewer to be built by lowest bidder with as much home labor as can be procured and paid for by a bond issue to be taken care of at the present tax rate.

Gettysburg Classis Here in 1906.

At the last business session of Gettysburg Classis last week at McKnightstown it was decided to hold the next sessions in Gettysburg, May 15, 1906.

The following were the delegates elected to the Potomac Synod to convene at Newport in October next: Ministerial—Revs. E. W. Stonebraker, McKnightstown; T. J. Barkley, Gettysburg; E. S. Hay, Hanover; J. H. Smith, Littlestown; S. P. Mauger, New Oxford.

Elders—George Julius, Littlestown; A. R. Brodbeck, J. H. Schriver, Hanover; A. T. Stover, McKnightstown; H. J. Sanders, Gettysburg.

At a meeting of Gettysburg Classis last Friday in Hanover three young ministers were examined and licensed. Messrs. C. E. Myers, Dallas R. Krebs and J. W. Zehring.

Notice.

At the town meeting on Thursday night in the interest of the sprinkler there were a number of plans suggested and a definite one at length adopted.

Now we want to call the attention of the town people to this one thing: united effort is absolutely necessary. If every house in the town would give at the rate of a penny a day, which means .06 a week or .25 a month, that, with the larger subscriptions (which will of course be given by the merchants and public buildings) will give us ample funds to run a sprinkler. Regular giving at this rate, which will not be a tax to any, is what we ask for.

There is no reason why anyone should refuse the solicitors. The sanitary benefit and comfort which the use of a sprinkler will bring to the entire town is surely something to be considered; and the Civic Club is anxious that the whole town shall get the benefit.

We would call attention again to the request made last year that from each house the dust should be swept beyond the curb in piles on Friday of each week, to facilitate its removal and save time for the workmen. The faithful doing of this will add very much to the benefit of the sprinkling.

The time has arrived for the annual payment of dues from May 1905 to 1906. It will oblige the Treasurer and save a great deal of work for the Club if those who have not yet settled will call at once on Miss Mary Horner, Assistant Treasurer.

Trolley Comes This Way.

The Chambersburg and Gettysburg electric railway, now owned by the Cumberland Valley R. R., finished recently a line to the State Forestry line a short distance from Caledonia. Cars were run at once to that point. On Monday of this week a force of workmen started to build track from stopping point of two weeks ago toward Graffenburg and how much further is unknown though it is conceded that it will be extended further. The ultimate objective point must be Gettysburg.

Wm. P. Devine Rents Hotel.

The Hanover Realty Co., owners of the Hotel O'Bold, have rented their hotel to William P. Devine, former proprietor of Hotel Hanover, and later of Central Hotel this place. The change goes into effect tomorrow and license will be transferred as soon as it can be accomplished.

New Electric Lamp.

T. P. Turner superintendent of Keystone Light Co. is introducing one of the newest things in the way of electric light, a Nernst lamp. It gives a bright steady light, no flickering, constant, burns 800 hours before needing attention and it is the cheapest thing out in lighting. One lamp of 250 candle power gives Dougherty & Hartley store room all the light desired. Four lamps of 50 candle power each have been put in dining room of City Hotel.

New Battlefield Commissioner.

Major General L. L. Lennox of Virginia, a resident now of Washington, it is said, will be appointed by President Roosevelt a Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioner in place of Major Robbins, deceased. Gen. Lennox was Colonel of 11th Va. Cavalry at time of battle of Gettysburg, reaching the field too late to be drawn into much of the fight here but helped cover retreat of the Confederate army from here and became engaged in the battle at Hagerstown.

LADIES WILL BUY SPRINKLER

Town to Contribute to Pay Operating Expenses.

The Town Meeting called by the Womans' Civic Club on last Thursday evening was opened by Mrs. Walter H. O'Neal, President of the Club, stating that the purpose of the meeting to be on the part of the Club to announce that enough money had been obtained to purchase a sprinkler which would cost about $400 and that the people of the town were requested to form some plans to pay operating expenses.

The meeting was well attended and H. I. Weaver was elected chairman and upon his request for a Secretary to which there was some hesitation, Judge Swope said "I'll be your Secretary."

Mrs. Frances Walter explained the situation by several practical suggestions, one to ask for bids for running sprinkler, another to ask town to purchase the horses and to assess the people for the expenses. Waynesboro raised the necessary amount by an assessment of 25 cents a month for operating expenses. One man had volunteered to furnish two horses and run sprinkler at $2.50 a day. The Water Co. wanted 25 cents for 1,000 gallons a day or 45 cents for 3,000 and at latter figure water expenses would be about $13.00 a month. Mrs. Walter however thought more water than 3,000 gallons would be needed. Total expenses might be $90 to $100 a month and surely there were 400 people in town who would pay 25 cents a month.

Amos Eckert explained difficulties he had encountered in collecting for one square. Judge Swope praised the idea of a town meeting and the Civic Club for the good it had done him and as he believed many others. Rev. Woods acknowledged to the good the Civic Club had done him and spoke along a line suggestive of cleanliness being next to godliness.

Judge Swope and Rev. Woods referred to the good work of Town Council for the town, the former believing the Civic Club had encouraged the Town Council to put the town in the good condition it is at present. Mrs. Walter thanked the councilmen for the help they had given the Club and assured them the Club would never have accomplished what they had without their help.

Motion of Rev. Vincent carried that it is the sense of this meeting that the generous gift of the Womans' Civic Club of a sprinkler be accepted and that committees be appointed to canvass the town for necessary operating expenses.

Judge Swope volunteered to canvas on Baltimore street from High southward, Rev. Woods on High street, Burgess Eicholtz and Dr. J. W. Tudor on Chambersburg street and Springs avenue. Rev. Vincent on Carlisle street, Prof. Charles Huber on Lincoln avenue, J. O. G. Weaner on Stevens and Stratton streets, Joseph Matthews on Washington street to Chambersburg, Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal on Baltimore street from High to the Diamond, Dr. P. M. Bickle on Washington street north from Chambersburg. These canvassers afterward selected Wm. F. Codori to canvas on York street, W. C. Sheely on East Middle and Chas. A. Blocher on West Middle streets.

To Mrs. Bickle's questions whether money would be collected or promises, the latter seemed to be the end in view at present.

Mrs. W. H. O'Neal said that the Civic Club would hope to have sprinkler in town by June 1.

The question was repeatedly asked whether it was the intention to sprinkle the whole town. Mrs. O'Neal stated that ladies from every part of the town had helped toward the purchase of the sprinkler in order to have the benefit of the same and the gift of the sprinkler by the Civic Club was for the whole town. Motion of Prof. Chas. Huber to sprinkle the whole town carried and meeting adjourned.

The canvassers began their work last Friday.

Dear Sir: Why don't we make paint, as many others do, to go three-quarters as far, or two-thirds, or half, or a third, or a quarter?

Mr. Aaron Higgins, Plainfield, N. J., always used 15 gallons of paint for his house: Devote took 11.

There are two sorts of paint: all paint, true paint, strong paint, full-measure; and part paint, false paint, weak paint, short-measure.

The paint-manufacturers are two sorts: Devote and the rest.

A Very Wise Dog.

An exceedingly wise dog attempted to cross the railroad bridge over Conowago Creek near New Oxford ahead of a train on which Hiram Eichelberger was engineer. When the latter saw the dog it was too late to slow down. The dog, however, coolly stood up the situation, crouched down between two ties and let the train pass harmless over his body, then jumped up, shook himself and scampered off.

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED

Suffered for One Year—Water Caused Agony, Heat Intense Pain—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Could Not Do Any Housework.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"About a year ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water, I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook over the stove, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but his prescriptions were utterly useless. I gave him up and tried another, but without the least satisfaction. About six weeks ago I got my first relief when I purchased Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a week, I found to my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and to-day my hands are entirely well, the one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment being all that I used. (signed) Mrs. Minnie Drew, 18 Dana St., Roxbury Mass."

Soak the hands or feet on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure. Wear on the hands during the night old, loose gloves, or bandage the feet lightly in old, soft cotton or linen. Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Send for "How to Cure Itching, Scaly Humors."

A MESSAGE.

North! To the North—all the robins are hailing, Wild geese and bluebirds proclaiming the spring. Down by the brook catkins banners are flying, Phoebe and blue jay attempting to sing. Stir the sweet sap in the veins of the maple. Heart of the crocus is showing its gold. Soon blossoms will burgeon on cherry and apple, Sweet secrets of nature in spring time unfold. North! To the North—all the south winds are blowing. Bearing Love's message to bird and to bee, Looming the feters that binds the brook's flowing. Waking the dormant and setting life free. Heart! Will thou heed what the wild things are saying? Then haste to the lake bordered land of the pine, Soul shall meet soul and forever go straying Through daisy strewn fields of eternal spring time. —Irene Pomeroy Shields in May "Recollection."

Do Animals Think?

All Germany, just now, is excited over the accomplishments of a wonderful horse which its owner sincerely believes is as well equipped mentally, as any school boy of the same age.

Scientists, public men, the high and low of Berlin have visited the little stable-yard where the Baron von Osten and his young stallion, Hans, hold private audiences. All are agreed that the horse does things never before accomplished by any member of brute creation. The point is, how?

The story of this wonderful horse is told in the May "McClure's." His owner has spent four years on Hans' education (not training, mind you), nothing offends the Baron more than to have it said that Hans is "trained", using the same processes that are applied to the young children in the Prussian schools, Hans could pass any primary grade examination in the "three R's" at least: for this eight-year-old Orloff stallion is seemingly far higher in the scale of intellect and education than most of the inhabitants of the far away Russian province from which he comes.

Commissions have studied him in the painstaking Teutonic way, and though unanimously agreed that fraud has no part in Hans' performances, they have not held identical views on the great question of the horse's mental processes. Whether he thinks or merely memorizes is still undecided. Edward C. Heyn who writes about Hans made his acquaintance formally in Berlin.

"On the day I first saw Hans," he says, "I was formally presented to him, the Baron leading him up to me and saying distinctly:

"Hans, this is Mr. Heyn."
"Very happy to meet you," said I, but a glance at the grave face of the Baron assured me that it was no joke to him. Consequently, I did not doff my hat as I had intended.

"Twenty-four hours later I saw the beast again, and on that occasion the Baron called the class in spelling. A large blackboard, on which was drawn an alphabetical and numerical chart was placed before the horse. This chart was constructed by means of vertical and horizontal lines numbered at the top and side. At the intersections of the lines were placed the letters of the alphabet. Any letter could then be located by two numbers. It was more like a ship's chart than anything else, a letter representing the thing whose location the observer indicates by the intersections of the lines of longitude and latitude.

"Will you be so good," said the Baron to me, without mentioning my name, mind you, "as to approach the horse?" I did so.

LILIES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said:

"The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the key to physical beauty is perfect physical health."

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman. To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health. Work, Sunshine, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air and a Happy Contented Spirit—these, as you say, 'honest and true,' is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make-up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending twenty-five cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or thirty-one cents for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails," writes Mrs. Dr. Nielsen of 412 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Ill. "It is a certain cure for female troubles, diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration, intense pains and a dreadful backache, which unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I kept my bed. In this extremity I used 'Favorite Prescription' for three months and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a stage of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

One Cold and Another

The season's first cold may be slight—may yield to early treatment, but the next cold will hang on longer; it will be more troublesome, too. Unnecessary to take chances on that second one. Scott's Emulsion is a preventive as well as a cure. Take when colds abound and you'll have no cold. Take it when the cold is contracted and it checks inflammation, heals the membranes of the throat and lungs and drives the cold out.

"Now, Hans," said the Baron, "what is this gentleman's name?"
"Hans stamped once, and then, after a pause, four times. At the intersection of the first vertical and the fourth horizontal lines was written the letter 'H.' By the same methods the stallion went on, without hesitation, to indicate the letters 'e,' 'i,' and 'n.' This was, sure enough, my name, the substitution of 'i' for 'y' being explained by the statement that Hans had been brought up to spell phonetically."

The Vanishing Stock Industry.

In his statement of "The Greatest Trust in the World," printed in the May number of "Everybody's Magazine," Mr. Charles Edward Russell quotes authorities to show how the Beef Trust has ruined the cattle business.

"For four years—so runs the universal testimony in Nebraska—the cattle-producer has never sold in a competitive market; and for four years the price of cattle on the hoof has been dropping and the price of beef has been rising.

"I say this from my own experience," said my informant, "that since the Trust was formed the producer has never been certain of his market. When the price drops so low that owners stop shipping, the packers push the price up a few points to induce them to begin shipping cattle again. But they have their private and secret ways of keeping tab of the cattle coming into the market, and know to a car-load how many will reach them on a certain day. When their bait has been taken and cattle are on the way they put the price down, and the shipper finds that he must sell at cost, or, perhaps, often enough at an actual loss. And sell he must, for to ship the cattle back to the feeding station would be even more expensive."

"It is a fact that for the last four or five years producers have sold both cattle and hogs at a loss, or, at best, at cost. Nearly every feeder in Nebraska has been impoverished, while many have become absolutely bankrupt, losing all the accumulations of a lifetime. In my tour of Iowa and Nebraska I have found only one feeder for every twenty whom I found two years ago."

The Shellbark Hickory is a Rugged Native American.

The awakening of the trees and the rigidity with which they array themselves in the new foliage of spring, always fill us with wonder. Each year they reveal anew their richness of life, but we are never quite prepared for the phenomenon, for in all their moods and aspects, save this one, the trees suggest to us the spirit of calmness, of deliberation, of repose.

The shellbark hickory is perhaps the most interesting tree we have, because it is a strictly American tree, and so wedded to its native soil that it refuses to become a citizen of any other country. In the sturdiness of its roots and trunk, in the boldness in which it flings out its tough branches, in its strong individuality of character, and in its general fruitfulness, not forgetting its uncouth roughness of bark, it further manifests its strong Americanism. Its winter buds are large and interesting. Early in spring the dark brown outer scales fall away. The inner scales then lengthen to protect the growing leaf, sometimes attaining a length of five inches. These inner scales are marvels of beauty both in texture and in color. The body of the scale is thick and leathery, while its surfaces, especially the inner, are soft with a silken nap gorgeously dyed in yellow, orange and red, suggesting the chimney-corner, and the heat which glows from a hickory log.—From "The Awakening of the trees," by Frank French, in the June "Scribner's."

Burbank's Hypothesis of Plant Life.

The simplicity of Burbank's conceptions of plant nature is grand—for his purposes. Like new plants changed; he saw them change with most surprising speed and range. In handling beans, for example, he saw after crossing, speckled beans bring forth all black and then he saw these black beans bring forth every kind of bean he ever saw or heard of. Perhaps he looked into the books of beans and saw hosts of them named and described and at the same time knew that he had grown more kinds from the seed from a single pod. He, of course, knows beans better now, but to the youth what could be a clearer demonstration that the high botanical barriers of that day could be climbed over by beans and if by beans why not by everything in the plant line. Then Darwin's theory came into his life and backed up his beans, because all plants having been developed from lower forms in accordance with various influences, surely they have not reached the ends of their careers at this stage in the world's progress. If they all come from the same origin, long different lines perhaps, why can they not go farther on the same lines and why are they too far apart now to call across to each other to satisfy their pressing needs and to help each other toward new and higher form? And the strength of this simple philosophy was found in the fact that the plants accepted it, leaped over botanical barriers never crossed before in horticultural experience, and changed forms and characters, gained new ones or lost old ones until a thousand experiences of the man affirmed the revelation which the boy read in the bean pod.—Edward J. Wickson in "Sunset Magazine" for May.

PRIZES FOR PUZZLE SOLVERS

A Great Scheme Whereby Every Correct Answer Will Win a Reward.

The greatest prize scheme for puzzle solvers ever offered by a newspaper is that inaugurated recently by the Sunday North American, of Philadelphia. For a long time that paper has been presenting each week, a puzzle for young folks, and has been offering a long list of prizes. But the answers grew to be so numerous that many boys and girls were, of necessity, disappointed. It was not possible to make a list of prizes to keep up with the increase of correct answers.

Something new had to be invented.

Now, did you ever hear of a Puzzle contest in which nobody is disappointed?

Then it must be Polly Evans' new Weekly Puzzle Contest, for hers is the only one anywhere in which nobody is disappointed.

Think of it—nobody disappointed!

If you answer a puzzle incorrectly, you do not look for any reward, of course; but if you answer it correctly, it is natural that you should expect to be rewarded, and that you should feel disappointed if you find you are not rewarded.

That is what Polly Evans always thought, and she spent many an hour trying to devise some plan of prize-giving that would mean no disappointed boys and girls.

At last—just a few weeks ago—an idea occurred to her! The North American approved of it at once, and the result is that, since April 15—the day the plan was first announced—there have been no disappointed children in Polly Evans' Puzzle Contests.

For, thanks to her new system of prize credits, Polly Evans is now able to reward every boy and every girl who answers her puzzles correctly.

In brief, the plan is as follows:

You answer Polly Evans' puzzle correctly. You may send your answer on as many coupons cut from the puzzle page as you please. Polly Evans rewards you with a prize credit for every coupon you send. If you send five correct coupons to one puzzle, you get five prize credits. If you send one, you get one credit.

In exchange for your prize credits, you get your choice of hundreds of fine prizes described in the illustrated Prize Circular which Polly Evans sends by mail at the end of each month to every prize winner.

Besides rewarding you with Prize Credits, which are exchangeable for prizes, Polly Evans also awards to the 300 or 400 finest appearing coupons special prizes and surprises, which are announced with each weekly puzzle.

And in order to encourage you to earn as many prize credits as you possibly can, Polly Evans offers every month handsome grand special prizes to the two boys and girls who win the highest and next highest number of prize credits respectively during the month.

TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

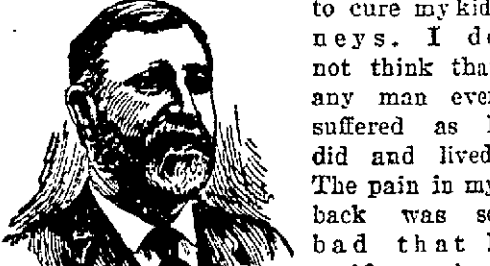

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

—Finding money, why a little lady of this place, Esther Blocher, picked up $69 last week on a street of this town, at least it was a check for that amount drawn by a perfectly responsible business man of this county and the check was properly endorsed by the party to whom it was payable. The little Miss impressed with the value of her find carried it home and check reached owner in time, much to his joy.

DEM. STATE CONVENTION.

Democratic State Committee Rooms,
Harrisburg, Pa., May 9th, 1905.
To the Democrats of Pennsylvania:

In obedience to the action of the Democratic State Central Committee at its annual meeting, held in the city of Harrisburg, on Wednesday, April 19th, 1905, notice is hereby given that the Democratic State Convention, will be called to order at 12 o'clock, noon, in the Lyceum Theatre, at Harrisburg, Wednesday, May 24th, 1905.

The business for which the Convention is called will be to place in nomination

Three, (or a less number if the Convention may so decide) candidates for Superior Court Judge.

One candidate for State Treasurer, and to act upon and determine such other matters, pertaining to the welfare and success of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, as may be properly brought before it.

P. GRAY MEEK, J. P. K. HALL,
Secretary. Chairman.

DEM. STATE CONVENTION.

The Adams county delegates will take notice of the above call for State convention on May 24. The sentiment of this county is for one candidate for Superior Court Judge. Only one can be elected. Democracy should present the name of but one man pre-eminent for his learning, ability and standing, who will be recognized as Democracy's protest to the machine methods of the opposition in degrading everything, even the Bench, to the purposes of the machine. Democracy should give the State a judge not alone one in name but in every distinguishing feature of the great jurists of the country.

The State convention will vote on a proposed amendment to rules to take away from congressional, judicial, senatorial and legislative conferees the power to make nominations in cases of deadlocks and give the State Executive Committee this power. Such a change would place nominations in a wholly unrepresentative body of the district. Such a rule would be undemocratic. It will be a big stick in hands of large counties over smaller ones. In a democracy the electors of a district must make nominations. Any other plan would make the remedy worse than the disease of deadlock.

INCREASED SALARIES.

There seems to be some misapprehension as to exactly what is the increased compensation of certain county officials under recent acts. The salary of the County Commissioners in counties of a population between 30,000 to 38,000, and Adams county has not quite $5,000, is $700 and expenses. The average salary last year, including expenses, was $530. The additional pay of a county commissioner will largely be in the expenses allowed by new act beyond salary. The District attorney in counties with population between 30,000 and 40,000 is fixed at $600 per year, and the fees have amounted to about $400 heretofore. Under the new law there will be no temptation to make unnecessary fees and costs.

BIDS FOR TWO BRIDGES OPENED

Contracts Awarded—Bridge Men Say Co. Will Have Two Good Bridges.

About a dozen of the brightest men to be found in a days travel were gathered in Gettysburg last Wednesday. They were bridge men representing bridge building plants and were bidding against each other with sealed proposals for the erection of two iron bridges. One to go over Rock Creek at Welty's fording in Cumberland township, on road from State road to Carlisle road, taking a span of 45 feet. The other one at Rhodes Mill over Middle Creek in Freedom township.

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system.

Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. ISA O. BROWN, Ramford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

on road from Emmitsburg road to Fairfield, with a span of 83 feet.

The bridge builders handed in their sealed proposals at 12 o'clock noon. At 1.30 the Commissioners with their clerk retired into the arbitration room and in about ten minutes made their appearance and announced the following bids:

Welty.	Rhodes.
Nelson & Buchanan $ 950	$2400
Massillon Bridge Co. 900	2500
York Bridge Co. 975	2487
Eyre Construction Co. 990	2490
Canton Bridge Co. 1020	2550
King Bridge Co. 1086	2509
Owego Bridge Co. 1094	2657
J. A. Westbrook 1110	2615
Levering & Ganges 1135	2685
Penn Bridge Co. for the two	3675

For the masonry of Welty bridge Wm. Flemming bid $274.50 and J. A. Collins $200; for the Rhodes bridge J. O. Collins $430 and Geo. Bricha $498.

The bridge at Welty fording was awarded to Massillon Bridge Co. and the one at Rhodes Mill to Nelson & Buchanan.

In an interview several of the bridge men asserted that the county would get two good, substantial bridges and at a very low figure, adding if built according to specifications. One declared that he had put in his bid at cost and he knew there wasn't a cent of profit in it for the winners at the prices, indeed he said in his judgment the bridge contractors would be out of pocket.

Nelson & Buchanan furnished the plans and specifications for the bridges. One of the bridge men interviewed said that the bridge company drawing the plans always has some little advantage over other bidders. It would be but natural in making plans to look over the iron stock and make plans to use same and bid knowingly of the stock in hand while others may have to order the material called for. The same party said many counties find it a good plan not to have one bridge builder make all the plans but to go the rounds of the bridge companies, all of whom furnished them for nothing, and so play one builder against another on a rotation of plans.

Another bridge man laughed as he said, "bridges are not always put up according to specifications. When the country inspectors who know nothing about iron work look over the job it is good enough, yet a shave of one-sixteenth or one-eighth of an inch of the size of the iron would mean a big saving to a contractor."

These bridge builders were hustling business men, most of them leaving town as soon as result of bids was known, a few however, going over battlefield in the afternoon.

Cattle Bought And Shipped.

The following sales of cattle tell the story of cattle feeding over the winter among the farmers around this place and other portions of the county. Calvin T. Lower bought and shipped these cattle to L. Sundheimer. The total number bought so far is 615 head and the aggregate weight gives an average of 1183 pounds per head, certainly a very good showing.

NEW GAME LAW IN FORCE

Game of All Kinds Will Enjoy Greater Protection.

The Governor recently signed a new game law which shortens the open season for all kinds of game to be found in county and limits to a greater degree than ever the killing of game just to kill it.

In the first place the law sets out just what are game birds. And in this connection it may be said that blackbirds are put in the game class and on the same basis with partridges.

They may not be killed until after September 1 of each year. The pretty little dove is placed among the game birds, also.

Those birds which shall hereafter be known as game birds which may be killed at some season of the year are: Swans, geese, brant, sea-ducks, rails, coots, mudhens, shore-birds, plovers, snipe, wood-cock, sand-pipers, tattlers, curlews, wild turkeys, grouse, prairie chickens, partridges, quail, doves, wild pigeons, reed birds and blackbirds.

The following birds are not protected by any law and may be killed when and wherever the gunner can find them: Blue-jays, English sparrows, kingfisher, cooper-hawk, sharp-shinned-hawk, gos-hawk, duck-hawk, pigeon-hawk, great horned owl and father crow.

SQUIRRELS—May be killed from October 1 to December 1. But no hunter dare kill more than six squirrels in any one day. The law uses the word squirrels without reference to gray, red or black. Hence it is understood that red squirrels are now protected.

RABBITS—Cottontails may be killed from November 1 to December 1. This shortens the rabbit season fifteen days. As many rabbits as can be killed, the law allows.

QUAIL—Or partridge may be killed only from November 1 to December 1. This shortens the quail season one month, the previous open season being from October 15 to December 15. Not more than ten quail or partridges may be killed in any one day, or more than forty a week, or more than seventy-five in a season by any one man. The shooting of quail or partridges in a bunch on the ground is a highly criminal offense and is punishable by imprisonment and a fine of not more than $100. Quail or partridges may be caught during the months of January, February and March, and held until the close of winter. But they must not be taken from one locality to another, or they must not be sold. They must be released in the same section they were caught.

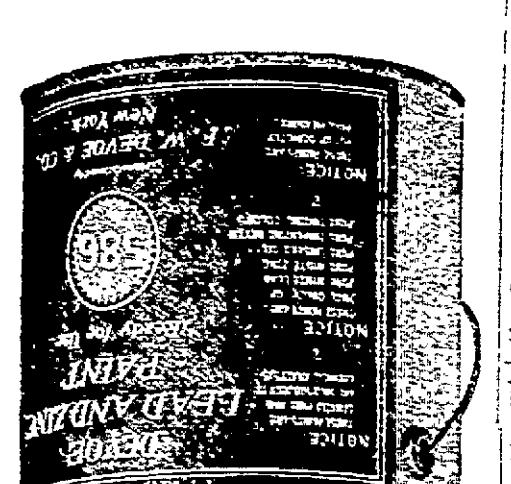

PHEASANTS—English, Mongolian or Chinese or ruffed grouse may be killed from October 15 to December 1. Not more than five may be killed in any one day, nor twenty in a week, nor forty in a season.

WILD DUCKS—May be killed from September 1 to January 1 and from April 1 to April 16 of each year. And not at other times. Wild geese and brant are governed by the same law. Not more than ten ducks may be killed in a season. Only two wild geese or brant may be killed in a day and not more than ten in a season.

WOOD COCK—October 1 to December 1.

BLACKBIRDS—Rail, reed and shore-

Maggy Darr's Temptation

(Original.)

Maggy Darr was a nurse-girl in a large city. One day her mistress told her that for the sake of economy she would dispense with her services. The lady should have helped her to get another place, but she was a selfish woman and turned her servant away with the few dollars she owed her to shift for herself.

Maggy's mother was a widow with one child besides Maggy, a boy two years old. It so happened that at the time of the girl's discharge her mother fell sick, and the money Maggy brought home from her mistress was all the means the family possessed to pay rent and the doctor and buy food and medicines. The consequence was that it was more than exhausted within a few days.

One night Maggy left her sick mother and her little brother, who was crying for food, and went out with desperation in her heart. She was walking along the street crying when she was stopped by a rough looking man with the question:

"Hello, little girl! What's the matter?"

Maggy gave an account of her condition and the reasons for it.

"Young woman," said the man, "if you don't take care of yourself no one won't take care of you. I'm an escaped jailbird myself. Nobody won't give me no work, and I've got to take what I need, whether the law allows or not. Say, I've been watchin' a house around the corner. There's a window open, just enough for a girl like you to crawl through. Besides, you'd step lighter 'n me. You go in and get some swag, while I watch for cops outside."

But one vision danced before Maggy's eyes—carrying home food to stop the crying of her little brother. Her brain was not very capacious, and there was no room in it for more than one thought at a time. The immorality of the means by which she intended to procure the coveted result was crowded out. She went with the man, who showed her the window and, handing her a revolver and a dark lantern, told her to use the former if it would save her from being caught. Maggy was so beside herself with her proposed work that she took both mechanically, not knowing what she did. Entering the house and not finding anything of value in the lower rooms, she went upstairs. The door of a bedroom stood ajar, and she threw the light into the room. On a bed lay a girl about her own age, sleeping. She was a perfect picture of tranquillity, her face an expression of absolute innocence. Maggy's light flashed on a dressing table, lighting up jewels that had been laid aside for the night. Then she turned the rays again on her from within, she was to take these jewels.

Maggy was no more of a burglar than the sleeper. She was not even naturally dishonest. A coincidence—her meeting with the convict, his pointing out a way by which to gain relief—had been too much for her young powers of resistance. This defenseless innocence cast as sudden a light into Maggy's moral nature as her lantern cast upon the sleeper.

Now, beside the bed in which the girl lay was an electric light button. The sleeper, when Maggy had flashed the light in her face, partly awakened and listened, but, hearing nothing, was about to sink to sleep again when she heard a low sob. Reaching up, she turned the button, and the room was illuminated.

Perhaps no one ever saw a more novel sight. A girl about her own age was on her knees in the middle of the floor, with her hands clasped and her eyes raised in prayer. On one side of her on the floor was a lantern, on the other a revolver. There was little time to gaze on the picture, for in a moment a door without opened and a voice said:

"There's somebody in the house."

The awakened girl must have had a brain capable of taking in a great deal on sudden notice. At any rate, she saw a vision of her visitor marched to jail, and at the same time she devised means to prevent such a result.

"Bring those things and put them under the bed. Quick!" she said.

Maggy, called to herself by her danger, obeyed.

"Now get into bed with me."

Maggy had no sooner disappeared under the covers than her bedfellow turned the button, and the room was dark again. A man came to the door with a candle in one hand and a pistol in the other, asked the girl if she had seen or heard anything, went away, prowled for awhile about the house, then went back to bed.

In the darkness, covered by the same bedclothes as her protector, Maggy told her story. Just before day both girls arose and stole softly downstairs, and Maggy, after peeping through a crack to make sure that her tempter had gone away, walked out of the front door.

The next day the girl Maggy had intended to rob came to visit the Darr family. She carried many bundles, which gladdened the hearts of all, especially these things that Maggy had told her the invalid needed. From that time forward she took them all under her especial care, and when she entered the social world and required the services of a maid she installed Maggy in the position. Her father never knew that the object of his daughter's bounty, indeed his daughter's maid, had first entered the house as a burglar. The daughter's act is not held up as a model for other young women. Indeed, she should have acted only with the consent of her father. But in this case no harm resulted, for Maggy, after a few years in her service, married a well to do carpenter.
